Calling all Lucky Stars quilt makers.

The Lucky Stars pattern is the pattern that we have been using for our Begin Quilting classes for some time. If you have completed one (or more) of these quilts we would like you to put the quilt(s) in a special quilt display in Columbus for their Columbus Day celebration on Saturday, October 8th. These quilts will be the only quilts on display and would make a really unique display of how one pattern can look so different by using different fabrics. Susan Lafever will be setting up the display and "guarding" your quilts during the celebration. Please deliver your quilt(s) to Sew Nice by 6:00pm on Thursday, October 6th. Please make sure that you have a label on the back of the quilt with your name, address and phone number - this could be a paper or fabric label.

Hospice of Chenango County is very lucky to have a group of dedicated and talented volunteers, who raise money for Hospice patients and families. The group is called Hospice Homemade, they make and collect quality homemade items to sell in craft shows throughout the community. The proceeds from the sales help provide funds for patients and families. Some of the ways these funds have been used in the past include purchasing lock boxes and chains for patients who are struggling with drug diversion, providing holiday meals for families, and supplying Lifelines for patients.

Hospice Homemade will be holding a craft sale on Friday Dec. 2nd and Saturday Dec. 3rd, 2011, at Sew Nice. Hospice Homemade is hoping to recruit some new crafters and artists to diversify the merchandise at the sale. The following items are especially needed: Placemats and Table Runners - seasonal and everyday, Baby and Kid items, While the items on the list are in high demand Hospice Homemade will accept donations of any homemade items. If you would like to get more involved please contact Leslie Bernardi at 336-1487 or Mary Lou Spence at 336-4852. Items to be donated for the sale may be dropped off at Sew Nice or The Hospice House in Norwich by November 10th.

Paula's Reversible Star Wall Hanging

Rescheduled for Saturday, Oct. 1st and 15th 10:30-2:30

Taught by: Paula Taylor

Cost: $40.00

Paula has refined the reversible quilt method and will be teaching you her method of quilting as you go and making a two sided quilt at the same time. How incredible is that? In this class you will be making a wall hanging to learn the method. Once you have learned the method you will be able to make larger quilts using the same technique. Paula is new to our area and we would like to welcome her to our teaching staff. We hope that our customers will take this opportunity to not only learn from someone new but also to show Paula how much fun it is to have classes at Sew Nice. For the beginner and beyond.

Quilts of Valor should be delivered to Sew Nice no later than October 13th

Many people have been making Quilts of Valor for the last several months. These quilts need to be delivered to Sew Nice no later than Thursday, October 13th. An Carlson's son Capt. Derek Carlson, DO,USAMC will be delivering them to Ft. Campbell in Tennessee. Donna Hanley has been organizing our efforts to provide quilts for returning veterans. She has tried and tried to get information about distributing these quilts locally. At this time there doesn't seem to be any local system in place to distribute quilts (or anything else for that matter), so An's son who is a Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine will act as our delivery system.
